

Gender Pay Gap Report 2022

Published February 2023

BACKGROUND

Employers with 250 or more employees are required to publish data in relation to the gender pay gap. This report provides the relevant information for Nelson and Colne College Group; the information contained within this report is as at 31 March 2022.

It is useful to note that gender pay gap is not the same as equal pay; the latter refers to the difference between men and women's pay for doing the same or similar work, whereas the gender pay gap relates to the difference calculated between men and women's average earnings, irrespective of their role.

Pay Quartiles

The table below shows a breakdown of the proportion of male and female employees in each of the four pay band quartiles:

Employee Bonuses

The gender pay gap reporting regulations also require employers to report on the proportion of male and female employees receiving bonuses, and to calculate the mean and median gender pay gap in relation to bonus payments.

As no bonuses were payable to any employees during the reporting window, values for both the mean and median bonus pay gaps are nil.
